

Petition for Condo Board Oversight

California condo owners are often denied justice and there is no practical remedy. Suing a condo board is simply not practical for people with limited time and very little money. The Davis-Sterling Act has no penalties for violations and offers no practical legal remedy, other than filing a lawsuit. Local oversight offices are needed to quickly investigate and impose reasonable penalties when necessary. Without local oversight condo boards can just ignore the law and their own CC&Rs until someone gets mad enough to sue. We deserve better!

If you believe that condo boards in California need more local oversight, please sign our petition at <http://petitions.moveon.org/sign/condo-oversight-petition>.
